

Version 2, January 2021

Prior Version: Version 1, April 2017 "City of Edmonton
EnerGuide for Homes: Spot the Difference Terms of Use"

City of Edmonton Home Energy Map Terms of Use

Authority

You agree to these Terms of Use by viewing or using any of the information on this page. You confirm that you are at least 18 years of age and that you have full capacity and authority to accept and be bound by these Terms of Use. If you are accepting on behalf of your employer or another entity, you represent that you have full authority to bind your employer or such other entity to the Terms of Use. Review these Terms of Use carefully; if you do not agree with any part of this agreement, do not accept the Terms of Use or use any of the information contained on this page.

License

The City grants you a worldwide, royalty-free, non-exclusive licence to use the EnerGuide rating and label (the "EnerGuide Information") on this page for any lawful purpose, including for commercial purposes. You agree that this licence does not give you a copyright or other proprietary interest in the EnerGuide Information on this page.

Future Changes to EnerGuide Information and Terms of Use

The City may at any time and from time to time add, delete, or change these Terms of Use. Notice of changes may be posted on this page. Any change is effective immediately upon posting, unless otherwise stated.

Compliance with Law Your Responsibility

You assume sole responsibility for your use and reproduction of the information on this page and for complying with all applicable laws and industry standards.

No Warranty

Your use of the EnerGuide Information or any other information displayed on this page (collectively the "Information") is solely at your own risk and you are fully responsible for any consequences arising from your use of the Information. All Information is provided on an "as is" and "as available" basis, and you agree to use the Information solely at your own risk. There are no warranties, express or implied, in respect to the Information or your use of the Information, including without limitation, implied warranties and conditions of merchantability and fitness for any particular purpose. For example (but without limiting the total intended scope of the preceding sentence):

Version 2, January 2021

Prior Version: Version 1, April 2017 "City of Edmonton
EnerGuide for Homes: Spot the Difference Terms of Use"

1. The City does not give any warranty or representation, whether express or implied, as to the completeness, currency, appropriateness, or accuracy of the EnerGuide Information;
2. The City does not give any warranty or representation, whether express or implied, as to the workmanship, quality, completeness, or suitability of any builder or work completed by any builder referenced on this page;
3. The City does not make any representation that the EnerGuide Information is free and clear of any possible proprietary right or other claim;
4. The City does not warrant or make any representation as to the quality, content, accuracy, or completeness of the EnerGuide Information, text, maps, graphics, links and other items contained on this website.

The EnerGuide Information does not represent an official statement of City policy, practice, services or procedure, and should not be construed as such.

Exclusion of Liability

You expressly agree that the City is not liable to you for any direct, indirect, incidental, consequential, special or other damages, including but not limited to damages for loss of profits, goodwill, use, data, or other intangible losses resulting from your access to or use of the Information. You will not and cannot sue the City for anything which the City does or does not do (even if intentional or negligent) in connection with the Information and your use or inability to use the Information. Without limiting the general scope of the preceding sentence, this means that the City and its officers, employees, representatives, and agents are not liable on any legal theory or basis for any direct, incidental, indirect, special, punitive, exemplary or consequential damages or losses, including without limitation, loss of revenue or anticipated profits, loss of goodwill, loss of business or any other damages or losses arising from your access to, and use of, the Information.

Liability For Not Complying With The Terms of Use

You agree to indemnify, defend and hold harmless the City and its officials, officers, employees and authorized representatives from and against any liability or any form of loss, injury, demand, action, cost, expense or claim of any kind, (including lawyer's fees), relating in any way to your access to or use of the Information, including, but not limited to, your connection to the Information or your use of the Information or any other content on this page. You agree to cooperate fully in the defence of any such claim. The City reserves the right to assume, at its own expense, the exclusive defence and control of any matter otherwise subject to indemnification by you. You agree not to settle any matter without the written consent of the City.

Version 2, January 2021

Prior Version: Version 1, April 2017 "City of Edmonton
EnerGuide for Homes: Spot the Difference Terms of Use"

Cancellation for Non-Compliance

The City may at any time for any reason, in its sole discretion, cancel or suspend your access to the Information without notice and for any reason, including without limitation anything which the City, in its sole discretion, believes is a breach of these Terms of Use or is otherwise unlawful or harmful to others. In the event of cancellation or suspension, you will no longer be authorized to use the Information, and the City may use any means possible to enforce its decision.

No Endorsement

You may not publicly represent or imply that the City is participating in, or has sponsored, approved or endorses the manner or purpose of your use of the Information.

No Association

You may not use any trade-mark, official mark, official emblem or logo of the City, or any of its other means of promotion or publicity, without the City's prior written consent nor in any event to represent or imply an association or affiliation with the City.

No Waiver

You agree that, if the City does not exercise or enforce any legal right or remedy contained in these Terms of Use (or that the City has the benefit of under any applicable law), this will not be taken to be a formal waiver of the City's rights and that those rights or remedies will still be available to the City. Any waiver of any provision of these Terms of Use will be effective only if the City expressly states in a signed writing that it is waiving a specified provision.

Governing Law and Jurisdiction

This Information is published from within the Province of Alberta, Canada. These Terms of Use are governed by Alberta law and the City and you now irrevocably submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of Alberta courts with respect to any and all matters arising under these Terms of Use or access to, or use of, this Information.